(Fishing Operations)
Full DECKHAND – Subsidized

Professional Seamanship
The First Step towards
Master/Skipper

The Certificate

The Certificate II in Seafood Industry (Fishing Operations) and Certificate I in Transport and Distribution (Marine Operations) is an eight week course for people who want to work at sea in the commercial fishing industry. It is a general entry level course designed for people with little or no commercial fishing experience. Preference is given to people who can demonstrate a genuine interest in fishing and/or the sea. Candidates need to be 16 years of age.

What will I learn?

At the end of the course, graduates have the basic competencies necessary to work at sea. It will take another 6-12 months experience on-the-job to become a competent practitioner. The course includes a trip to sea to practice the skills learnt and to experience the life of a professional fisherman firsthand. This will either be carried out onboard the training vessel or an existing operational vessel.
